DISTRICT NURSE ASSOCIATION MET

Annual Meeting of Gettysburg District Nursing Association Hears Encouraging Report. All Praise the Civic Nurse.

The great good accomplished by Miss Briel, Gettysburg's civic nurse, during the ten and a half months that she has been here was attested Thursday evening before the annual meeting of the District Nursing Association. The report of the president emphasized this and many members spoke of the great demand for her services and the satisfaction she has given. The meeting was held in the Court House.

Officers elected for the coming year were, president, Dr. J. A. Singmaster; first vice president, Rev. F. E. Taylor; second vice president, Miss Annie W. Horner; secretary, Mrs. D. P. McPherson; treasurer, I. L. Taylor. These, with the following, also elected Thursday evening, compose the Board of Directors, Mrs. K. J. Grimm, Mrs. Wm. Arch McClean, Mrs. Charles S. Duncan, Mrs. Luther Kuhlman, Prof. L. A. Parsons, Martin Winter, George E. Spangler, E. P. Miller, Miss Lily Dougherty, Mrs. William A. Martin, Prof. Richard S. Kirby.

Dr. J. A. Singmaster's report, read to the members of the Association, tells in detail of the work done during the past year. The report in full follows:

President's Report

To the Members of the District Nursing Association of Gettysburg, Pa. Ladies and Gentlemen: It gives me much pleasure in behalf of your Board of Directors to present the following second annual report of the work for the year ending October 1, 1913.

Our Association has been in existence a little over a year. Miss Katie Briel, our nurse, has been with us since Sept. 25th, 1912, with the exception of an absence of about six weeks occasioned by a previous engagement. We have, therefore, passed the experimental stage of our undertaking and feel that our efforts have been justified by most gratifying results. We enter upon a new year with the confidence that the Association is worth while, and that it can do even better than it has done.

The Board of Directors held eight regular meetings during the year at the residence of Miss Annie W. Horner, through whose courtesy this central place of meeting was offered. The various committees held numerous additional meetings. The business transacted belongs to the routine of the administration of a benevolent society, the principal thing being the devising of ways and means for raising funds.

The Work of the Nurse

During the ten and a half months of her active service, Miss Briel ministered to 169 families, to which she paid 1320 separate visits, or an average of 125 a month. The Board has nothing but commendation for her work. Not a single complaint has reached our ears. On the contrary we have heard praise and expressions of gratitude for efficient service, always cheerfully rendered. No one can measure the good she has done among all classes of our people. She has relieved suffering and want and ministered to the dying. She is exceedingly well adapted to our community and we deem ourselves fortunate in having secured her services.

We wish to explain again that the services of the nurse are not to be expected without charge by any one except the very poor. She has been provided with a card to be left with every family visited, giving the scale of charge as well as other information. These charges vary from 10 cents to 50 cents for a visit, from $1.00 to $2.00 for a day of ten hours, and from $2.00 to $3.00 for a day of 24 hours. These charges are very reasonable. It must be clearly understood that membership in the Association entitles no one to free treatment. It would be quite unreasonable to expect continued treatment for the pauper membership fee. Our income would not justify "free treatment." Our gifts toward the work are partly benevolent and partly in the nature of insurance, so that we may have a nurse at hand always. None of us knows what a day may bring forth by way of disease and accident; and we should be glad to pay the small charge made for visits. Moreover it is a comfort to know that the very needy can obtain the help of a trained nurse free of cost to them.

Inquiry has been made in reference to the rule which says that the nurse "will not visit patients suffering with contagious diseases, but may give aid."

SUNSET CAUSES A FALSE ALARM

Fire Company Brought out to Third Alleged Fire at Gettysburg Roller Mill when Sun Goes down in Blaze of Glory.

Shining suddenly from under a bank of heavy black clouds on Thursday evening, the sun cast a light of unusual brilliancy over the western end of town and for the third time in a short period the fire company was called upon to make a useless run to combat an imaginary conflagration at the Gettysburg roller mills.

Premature darkness had settled over Gettysburg shortly before six o'clock when a heavy rainfall and lowering clouds shut out all the sunlight. In a moment, before the time for the sun to set, the clouds lifted just enough to show the sun. Like an immense ball of brilliant orange fire it gleamed over the western hills. In the town, windows and pieces of metal on buildings reflected the remarkable light. Many persons hurried to the street to see the cause of the strange illumination and not a few believed that it was caused by flames from a large building.

Seminary Ridge hid the sun from some observers while others had the advantage of seeing one of the most remarkably beautiful sunsets Gettysburg has witnessed for many months. One of the less fortunate ones, seeing the reflection over the roof of the Gettysburg roller mill called "fire". In a few minutes the bell was ringing and a short time afterward, through mud and rain, the town's fire fighters were lugging the heavy apparatus down Baltimore and Chambersburg streets.

At Washington street a stop was made to investigate, for the light had departed as suddenly as it had appeared, the unusual sight lasting for less than two minutes. Inquiry revealed the cause of the false alarm, though the identity of the too hasty citizen remains unknown.

Some weeks ago the fire company was called to the mill to put out a fire which was confined to the office and was extinguished easily without using any of the company apparatus.

More recently the reflection from a railroad switch-light shining on one of the windows at the mill caused another false alarm to be turned in. All three alarms were sounded at about six o'clock in the evening.

ANOTHER PARADE ON HALLOWE'EN

Second Annual Mummies Parade will be Held on Last Day of the Month. Will Give Prizes. Band to Take Part.

Last year's mummies' parade on Halloween was such a great success that it has been decided to repeat the feature again this month and arrangements are now being made to have the affair a regular annual event.

For the old-time paddling, corn and flour throwing, the 1912 parade was a delightful substitute and the evening was one of enjoyment to hundreds of town people, rather than one of discomfort to all except the participants as was the case in former years.

This year three prizes will be offered. One will be for the lady wearing the best costume and another for the man having the best costume. The third prize will be awarded for the most original vehicle. The nature of the prizes will be announced later.

The Citizens' Band has agreed to take part in the event again this fall and an invitation to the college boys will also be extended. Assurance will be given that there will be no repetition of last year's unpleasantness.

Allan B. Plank is again leading in the effort for a "safe and sane" Halloween and will doubtless receive the necessary support from the business people of town when they are visited next week to contribute towards the prizes.

She was a daughter of the late William A. Young, of Hanover, who died about six months ago. MAY SIGN TARIFF BILL TONIGHT

Both Branches of Congress Take Final Action.

IN NOW UP TO WILSON

After Vice President Marshall and Speaker Clark Signed the Bill It Was Sent to the President.

Washington, Oct. 3. — The Underwood-Simmons tariff bill possibly will be a law before midnight.

The senate agreed to the conference report by a vote of 36 to 17. At the same time the senate receded from the Clarke amendment taxing cotton futures and disagreed to the Smith-Lever amendment voted into the bill by the house.

The report of the conference committee was laid before the house at noon today, and the house promptly receded from the Smith-Lever amendment. This was the final act in the passage of the tariff bill.

The bill was engrossed and ready for the signature of the vice president, speaker and the president. After the senate acted Vice President Marshall signed the bill. Speaker Clark signed today, and it was then presented to President Wilson for his signature.

The senate debated the bill for nearly eight hours before a vote was taken. A demand was made for the reading of the entire report, which consumed about two hours. Then there were speeches by Senators Simmons, Penrose, Burton, Pomerene, Gronna and others. Senator La Follette took no part in the argument.

There was less interest shown in the debate than there has been at any other time during the consideration of the bill. The bottom seemed to have fallen out of the tariff controversy.

The roll call on the adoption of the conference report showed fourteen Republican senators absent without pairs. Had they been present and voting, or paired, the report would have been adopted by a majority of five, which is the real Democratic majority.

As on the passage of the bill, Senators La Follette, of Wisconsin, and Ponder, of Washington, the former a Republican and the latter a Progressive, voted for the report, and Senators Thornton and Randall, of Louisiana, Democrats, voted against it.

The announcement of the result aroused no particular enthusiasm. Chairman Simmons was quietly congratulated by Democrats and Republicans alike on the successful manner in which he has handled the bill. It was recalled that on 114 votes taken in the senate on amendments the finance committee was sustained on each and every one. This showed party discipline as it has never been known before in the history of the senate. The finance committee made a few concessions and changed some rates, but on every test of strength Senator Simmons had the pleasure of having his view sustained by a majority of the senate.

MAY FREE MINER TONIGHT

Rescuers Near Man Entombed Seven Days in Coal Mine.

Shamokin, Pa., Oct. 3. — Today is the seventh day since Thomas Tosey was entombed in a breast at the Lehigh Valley Coal company's Continental mine at Centerville, since which time brave rescuers have toiled incessantly to liberate him.

Officials believed that from fifteen to eighteen feet of solid coal would have to be cut before he could be reached and that it would require the hardest kind of toil to liberate him by this evening.

Tosey's through a tube told the rescuers during the day that his nerve was still with him and that when released he would be strong enough to walk home.

COST OF RADIUM JUMPS

Valued at $52,000,000 a Pound Because of Great Demand.

Berlin, Oct. 3. — The price of radium has been advanced $10,000 a gram because of an unprecedented demand for the precious substance.

Radium is now sold at $115,000 a gram, which means a pound of it would be valued at more than $52,000,000, if such a quantity of it could be amassed.

UNION MAN TAKEN AS A DYNAMITER

Held For Alleged Destruction of New Haven Bridge.

IS SAID TO HAVE CONFESSED

U. S. Marshal Arrests Iron Worker In New York as an Accomplice of McNamara Brothers.

New York, Oct. 3. — George E. Davis, alias George O'Connell, was arrested by a United States marshal here on a charge of blowing up a dynamite New Haven railroad bridge at Mount Vernon, N. Y., Sept. 3, 1911. He waived extradition and was taken to Indianapolis.

Davis also is charged with having conspired with the McNamara brothers, Frank M. Ryan and other officers of the International Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' union to wreck the Mount Vernon and other bridges.

The marshal asserts that Davis has confessed.

In his confession, it is alleged, Davis has implicated union officials. Davis was arrested on the complaint of Robert J. Foster, a private detective, of Louisville, Ky. Foster charged that a conspiracy of Ryan, the McNamara brothers and fifty other iron workers to transport dynamite to be used in wrecking property of the American Bridge company was still in existence.

The formal charge against Davis, who is an iron worker, is that he violated the federal law against the transportation of high explosives on passenger trains engaged in interstate commerce.

The complaint asserts that Davis and his fellow-conspirators, on Jan. 22, 1911, transported forty-five pounds of dynamite from Bellefontaine, O., to Indianapolis over the Cleveland division of the Big Four railroad. On Sept. 3, 1911, it is alleged, Davis carried thirty pounds of the explosive from New York city to Mount Vernon, a suburb, and there blew up part of a railroad bridge.

The United States district attorney's office gave out what purported to be a synopsis of Davis' confession. It said that he had done a dynamiting job at Trenton, N. J.; had blown up an Erie railroad bridge at Harrison, N. J.; had plotted to blow up the Blackwell's island bridge in New York city; had wrecked a bridge at Pottsville, N. Y.; a Baltimore & Ohio bridge at Bradshaw, Ind.; the Chelsea pier in the North river, New York; had destroyed materials in the yards of the Pennsylvania railroad at Philadelphia; wrecked a drawbridge over the Bronx river, New York, and done similar jobs in Perth Amboy, N. J.; Somerset, Mass., and Providence, R. I.

Foster has been employed by the National Erectors' association and was found guilty in Indianapolis on March 15, 1912, of assault and battery on the person of Mr. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers.

Union Official Arrested.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 3. — Harry Jones, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, was arrested here on a charge of conspiracy. Jones, it is said, is implicated in the confession of George E. Davis, who was arrested in New York.

MRS. JOSEPH G. EATON.

Widow of Rear Admiral, Who Is Accused of Poisoning Him.

EATON INQUEST SECRET

Prosecution Says It Is Satisfied With Case Against Widow.

Hingham, Mass., Oct. 3. — The mysterious death of Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton at his home in Assinippi, seven months ago, was the subject of a further secret inquest here.

Eight witnesses were heard, most of them neighbors of the Eatons. It is upon the evidence adduced at the inquest that Mrs. Jennie M. Eaton, the rear admiral's widow, who is charged with murdering her husband by administering poison to him, is to be tried on Oct. 14.

At the close of the proceedings the inquest was again adjourned indefinitely, but District Attorney Albert S. Barker announced that it would be reconvened before Mrs. Eaton is brought to trial. Mr. Barker declared that the government is satisfied with its case as developed to date.

CANAL NOT INJURED BY THE EARTHQUAKE

Absolutely No Damage Done to Waterway Structures.

Panama, Oct. 3. — Absolutely no damage was done to the structures of the Panama canal by the earthquake that occurred in the canal zone Wednesday night.

The disturbance began with a slow oscillatory movement which gradually became more marked. Houses swayed, clocks stopped and articles of furniture were thrown to the floor. Many of the residents became panic-stricken and women rushed from their homes with children in their arms.

An early investigation of the conditions of the buildings at Panama showed that more damage had been done than it had been at first believed. Although no walls were seriously impaired, slight cracks occurred in several concrete buildings. This condition was particularly noticeable in Twelfth street, near Santa Ana Plaza.

Three hours after the occurrence of Wednesday night's disturbance one of the Central and South American cables broke at a point about 150 miles north of Panama. This may have been a coincidence or it may have been the result of the shocks. The break caused no inconvenience to the cable company's traffic.

The earthquake appears to have been of a submarine character.

vice at the door." This is simply a precautionary measure so that her services shall not be limited to a few. The Board of Health would, no doubt, interfere with indiscriminate visiting; and other patients would object to her coming to them. Fumigation and other precautions are not always preventives of the spread of disease and are always troublesome. The rule which governs this case is that in vogue in all similar associations of which we have any knowledge.

The Finances

Our Treasurer has an excellent report showing in brief the following receipts:

From societies $ 51.00
From nursing fees 144.03
From collections 55.43
From members 481.15

The expenditures amounted ... 665.35

Leaving a balance of $ 66.26
To which is to be added a special fund of 53.12

$ 119.38

Sources of Income

The main source of income must always be the membership, which consists of two classes active and sustaining, the former paying $1.00 a year and the latter $5.00 or more. There should be at least one active member in every family in Gettysburg. The weekly cost is only two cents. And there should be at least 100 persons to pay $5.00 and upwards. This would greatly add to our efficiency, and enable the nurse to supply pressing needs in the homes of destitution. We cannot urge too strongly that each member endeavor to secure at least one additional contributor. Our membership during the year was 150.

The second source of income must be from the patients, as we have already explained. We regret to have to report that some have failed to observe this obligation, in spite of having enjoyed great benefits.

Another source of revenue is the free will offerings of the churches, during the week of prayer, on Thanksgiving Day, and from the mid-summer union services. We trust that these gifts will be continued and augmented. Then the lodges, societies and institutions have given us donations for which we are grateful.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. has entered into an arrangement with us, from which we receive fifty cents for each visit to any of its industrial policy holders. We hope the latter will take advantage of this provision.

We expect to receive aid from entertainments, concerts, fairs and festivals, which may be held. Societies, classes, or groups of young people will be glad to do something for a good cause in this way. During the year Mr. Harry Himes gave an enjoyable musical entertainment for our benefit. The Girls' Friendly Society furnished an outfit for an infant; and the Girls' Club of the Presbyterian Church made garments for small children. The Girls of the Eighth Grade of the Public Schools taught by Miss Rummel made numerous small garments for distribution by the nurse. Our food committee distributed through the nurse hundreds of packages and cans of food. Some kind friends furnished a destitute family with milk for several weeks.

Mrs. J. A. Himes' Bible Class, of College Church, will make garments for infants during the present year. Donations of goods and money will be thankfully received by the class. They may be sent to No. 130 Carlisle street.

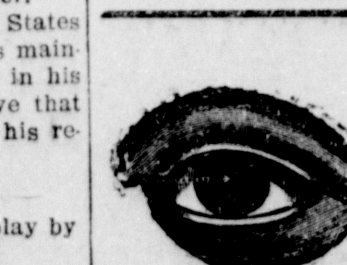

We need bedding, clothing, medicine and food for the poor.

The mere mention of the needs and the opportunities should prevent our noble Association from going begging. It is the only general benevolent society in the community and it ought to appeal to every one. The incoming Board will no doubt welcome suggestions for the enlarging of the usefulness of the Association.

MUSIC READING MADE EASY

Children Find It an Attractive Task to Learn Their Notes by Use of Electrical Device.

By using the electric music teacher, children will find that it is an attractive task to learn their notes, instead of a dry lesson as heretofore, so that they will begin to take an interest in music at once, and not consider it a drudgery, says the Popular Electricity.

M. Pierre Gelis, a Paris inventor, makes the device which we illustrate here. It is based on the principle of using an electric contact plate under the music paper. By pricking each note with a sharp metal point, we make contact for an electric device carrying a hammer, so that the hammer strikes a string or preferably a metal piece to give out the sound. Thus each note or line or space gives out its corresponding sound, and it is an easy matter to read a simple piece of music in this way.

The device is quite an elaborate one for it is required to take care of the sharps and flats which figure permanently as the sign of the staff. But this is easily done by using a revolving contact device to shift over the several required notes at the start. To bring back to natural during the piece, we press on a button which restores the note for the moment.

Even professional musicians will find it useful for transposing a piece into another key and this is done by observing the movement of the hammers and also a transposing chart which lies before them.

SWAP CHILDREN IN DENMARK

Curious System of Exchanging Little Folk During Summer Months—Scheme Works Well.

In Denmark there is a curious system of exchanging children during the summer. The country people send their little ones to the city people, and the latter send theirs to the country. The state delivers free tickets, and the schools send the children according to the applications from families.

The children travel alone, each one wearing a ticket of identification pinned on the jacket or bodice. Should any of them go astray they are lodged at the first station whilst inquiries are made. The young travelers are met at their destination by the peasants and their wives.

Treated with affectionate care by these good hearted people, the children often enjoy privileges they have never known at home. There is no severe discipline nor irksome restraint. They return home full of tales about their adventures, and their mothers are delighted to find them looking rosy cheeked, fat, and healthy. The peasant women feed them well and often make them fresh clothing.

The latter send their children into the towns and volunteer guides show them the monuments and sights. Last year the principal restaurant keepers at Copenhagen gave them a series of feasts and organized little dancing parties for their amusement. Both categories of children benefit by this mode of exchange, which, it may be noted, is conducted on inexpensive lines.

BELGIAN CUCUMBERS

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1913, by Associated Literary Press.

The county of Vernon in a certain middle state was at peace. Farmers, mechanics and merchants met each other and asked:

"How is old Vernon county?"

And the answer would be:

"Old Vernon county is all right—you bet!"

Fifty men saw X. M. Davis, as he came to be known, when the bus drove up to the inn at Clifton with him as the only passenger. He was a middle aged man, and he had the face of a true American patriot. He had come to give Vernon county such a chance to get rich as had never been held out to her before. Years ago his grandfather had died and had been buried in that county, and it was consecrated ground to him. That is why he had come to it instead of any other county.

Mr. Davis had come to Clifton direct from Europe. He had gone over there to study the agriculture of the country at his own expense. He had returned with what might be called a great find. The Belgians were almost secretly growing a specimen of cucumber that was bound to revolutionize the world.

It was amazingly prolific. One acre of ground would grow 5,000 cucumbers, each three feet long and weighing five pounds.

It was like eating oranges. It was a breakfast food in itself. It left behind it an exhilaration not known to any other vegetable in the world.

This cucumber was certain to take the place of grains of all sort in a year or two more and would displace the potato and the turnip entirely.

Mr. Davis did more than talk and exhibit seeds. He put $50 cash in bank as a prize to the person raising the most Belgian cucumbers the next spring or summer. It was November then. Between November and April Mr. Davis sold over $3,000 worth of seeds and received his money for them.

When he went away he went boldly, and he left the prize money in the bank. By so doing he escaped all suspicion.

Now came a mystery. In Clifton lived a widow named Lee. She had been there only two years, and the people knew little about her. She was nearly six feet tall, rugged and strong, and she neighbored with none. She went to Mr. Davis for some seeds, but refused to pay the price. She offered only a penny apiece and when turned down made use of some very strong language.

April was a forward month in Vernon county, and the cucumber vines were beginning to run by the middle of May. One night some one pulled up and stacked the vines in ten different gardens. They found tracks of a man's boots, but nothing further. The next night more gardens suffered. Just who to suspect was a puzzle, but of course it was a case of jealousy and spite. Every man who had any vines set a watch on them.

Deacon Tracy was the first one to report a clue. He had half an acre of vines and was sitting up to watch for the vandal when a man came suddenly upon him and knocked him senseless. When he recovered his wits his vines had been destroyed. Tracks left by a man's boots—that was all.

Of course there were excitement and indignation. A reward of $5 was offered for the arrest of the marauder, and owners of vines as yet untroubled hired watchmen. Then the man of night betook himself out among the farmers. He raided far and wide. He destroyed nothing but the cucumber vines, but he did not spare a bill of them that he could get at. He was chased by men and dogs; he was shot at; traps were set for him in twenty different places, yet no one earned that reward.

At Farmer Johnson's place he and his son were hidden in the smokehouse when the unknown appeared. He had scarcely pulled a vine when they were upon him. Both were strong men, but the struggle was over in a minute. The unknown knocked them both silly and got away with their hats and pieces of their shirts as souvenirs. It was figured that he had got such a scare, however, that he would not appear again. He returned next night when no one was watching and attacked the vines.

The excitement was now at fever heat, and the whole county was asking what should be done, when the marauder came to his end. A widow named Jones had twenty hills of vines she was watching. She had an old army carbine, and a neighbor had loaded it for her. She was watching from a window, and as the man of night appeared and began his work she fired at him. He dropped, but struggled up and ran.

A hundred men turned out and searched the streets and alleys and the country around, but they did not find the wounded man. They had given up the quest when word went round that no one had seen the Widow Lee for three days. The locked doors of her house were broken open, and she was found dead on the floor. A bullet had struck her in the chest—the bullet fired by the other widow. She was dressed as a man from head to heel and had false whiskers besides.

The Belgian cucumbers? Oh, they were a fraud, of course—just plain, everyday American cucumbers, with the usual 99 per cent water. It's just as easy to swindle a whole county as it is to swindle a single man. All you have to do is to get a new idea.

WRAPS OF TWEED OR VELVET SHOW EQUALLY MODISH LINES

Separate winter wraps are not the nondescript garments of some seasons ago, but in line and materials are quite as smart as the smartest gowns, showing the same general silhouette. The vogue of the one-piece dress is responsible for the awakened interest in these coats and for the subsequent novel designs and trimmings that have been called forth to make them attractive. Among the new materials is a heavy, sack-like fabric resembling closely ratine. It is excellent for motorizing or general utility wear. Ratine is still a favorite, and most effective trimmings of suede are seen on many of the ratine models. Boucle is warm and serviceable for juniors and the soft woolens also in the warm, bright colorings so much used in sports coats this summer, the blues, scarlets and green, are most becoming and suitable.

To copy No. 7982 in size 16 it will require 3 1/2 yards of 42 inch material.

In planning school frocks for the kids, matters are simplified if cotton fabrics are used rather than the woolen stuffs. These are easy to keep fresh and clean and under a warm coat may be worn in the coldest weather. 7966 is a design suitable for any of the cottons or for a serge. To make this little dress in size 8 it requires 2 1/2 yards of 36 inch material. Each pattern is 15 cents.

To obtain either pattern illustrated fill out this coupon and inclose 15 cents in stamps or coin. Be sure to state number of pattern and size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions. Address Pattern Department.

SULZER'S BROKER.

Melville Fuller Told Story of Governor's Deals.

© 1913, by American Press Association.

Melville B. Fuller, the broker, testified in the impeachment trial that he had dinner with Governor Sulzer at the executive mansion on July 30 last. After dinner the two men were alone in the library, and Mr. Fuller testified: "Governor Sulzer said to me, 'Mr. Fuller, you know that these securities were Mrs. Sulzer's, don't you?' And I said, 'No, I did not.' 'Well,' he said, 'these securities belonged to Mrs. Sulzer when I brought them to you. She had a loan with the Carnegie Trust company. They required me to give a note every three months, and it was very annoying, so I took the securities down to you and borrowed the money from you.' I said to Governor Sulzer: 'That may all be true, but there is no evidence of anything of that kind on my books and cannot be proved by me. If it is true you will have no trouble in proving it, as the books of the Carnegie Trust company must be a matter of record.'"

AIM A NEW BLOW AT CIVIL SERVICE

Would Out U. S. Deputy Marshals and Collectors.

Washington, Oct. 3.—A new provision, which would take practically all deputy United States marshals and deputy collectors of internal revenue out of the protection of the classified civil service, has been added to the urgent deficiency appropriation bill by the senate committee on appropriations, which reported the measure back to the senate.

It provides that collectors of internal revenue and United States marshals shall have power to appoint any deputy who is compelled to furnish a bond and "shall have power to revoke the appointment of any subordinate officer or employee, appoint his successor at his discretion without regard to the civil service laws or regulations."

An appropriation of $7000 for the purchase of a new automobile for Vice President Marshall and his car and operation for one year was also added to the bill by the senate committee.

The terms of office of the five circuit judges now serving on the United States commerce court, which would have ended at once under the provision recently passed by the house, have been extended to Dec. 31 by the senate appropriations committee.

In its report on the urgent deficiency appropriation bill the committee endorsed the provision abolishing the commerce court, but gives the judges about three months for retirement.

Found Whisky Lost 50 Years.

Iowa Falls, Ia., Oct. 3.—A bottle of whisky a half century old was discovered by workmen repairing the mill dam at this place. The bottle was in the sand between heavy logs that were used when the dam was built in the '50s, and the supposition is that it belonged to some of the workmen on the dam when it was originally built.

American Farmers Invade Canada.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 3.—Western Canada was invaded by 140,000 settlers from the United States during the season ended Wednesday, is the statement issued by Bruce Walker, commissioner of immigration.

SULZER'S SIDE BEGINS FIGHT

After Striking Out "Hearsay" Evidence Court Takes Recess.

GOVERNOR STILL DEFIANT

Declares He Is Fighting For Truth and Righteousness and Will Not Compromise With Tammany.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 3.—Adjournment until Monday afternoon was taken in the impeachment trial of Governor Sulzer after a few motions made by counsel for the defense had been disposed of.

Isador J. Kresel, of counsel for the assembly managers, read a statement absolving the New York brokerage firm of Harris & Fuller of any attempt to change their books in order to protect the governor.

At the trial Tuesday Mr. Kresel had placed considerable emphasis upon an entry in the firm's books which recorded a "loan" to the governor. Mr. Fuller took offense at the questioning of the entry and demanded an apology.

Mr. Kresel's statement preceded various motions made by counsel for the governor to strike out certain testimony. The first motion had to do with the introduction of testimony of Louis A. Sarecky, the governor's campaign secretary, taken before the Fawcett committee. This was testified to by the stenographer who reported it. Mr. Fox held the stenographer's testimony was hearsay. Judge Cullen held that the testimony was hearsay and would go out.

The next motion was to strike out certain testimony of J. B. Gray, the Wall street broker, in regard to a conversation he had with F. S. Colwell, the governor's alleged Wall street agent. Judge Cullen ruled that the testimony would stand.

As the Sulzer attorneys were about to move to strike out parts of the impeachment on the ground that the charges were unproved, Judge Cullen said: "I shall hold that all motions involving the probative force of competent evidence must be left until the final submission of the case."

Mr. Fox then declared he had intended to move to strike out articles 2, 4, 5, 7 and 8 on the ground that "the testimony concerning them is not worthy of consideration." However he said he would bow to the ruling of the presiding judge.

Judge Herrick then announced that counsel for the governor were not prepared to go on with the case and asked for adjournment until Monday afternoon.

Motion was then put and carried to adjourn the case until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Governor William Sulzer declared there would be no compromise in his fight with Tammany. He said: "I am not going to compromise. I am going to take the stand and make a plain statement which will make Tammany, Boss Murphy and his moral delinquents squirm."

"I am fighting for truth and righteousness. When I was elected governor I decided to be an honest man. Consecrated as I was by the votes of the people of this state, I decided to break loose from my old surroundings, to do nothing that would be inimical to the position. From the very beginning of the trial they have sought to compromise. There will be no compromise. I am going on the witness stand. Two results will come from this impeachment. They will be the recall and a direct primary measure."

HUNTERS WANT LICENSES

Pennsylvania Highway Department Believes 150,000 Will Be Needed.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 3.—Officials of the state highway department believe that close to 150,000 hunters will be licensed by the time Nov. 1 rolls around and deer hunters commence to prepare for sport.

The first order of licenses called for 139,000, and in a dozen counties requests have been made for more. Rush orders have been given to the printers to get out more papers, and it is hoped to make a further shipment in a few days.

In some of the counties 2000 hunters have been granted licenses, and the way in which applications are being made for camping sites on state forestry reservations indicates that there will be big times in the hunting field.

Baby Eats Grass For Four Days.

Erskine, Minn., Oct. 3.—Bonah Ganshorn, the three-year-old daughter of William Ganshorn, who had been lost for four days, was found under a pile of brush in the woods far from her father's home. The girl lived on grass and herbs, she told her parents. Large posies had been searching for the child, the belief being general that she had been carried away by a leopard that escaped from a circus some time ago.

To Elect Yuan Shi Kai.

Peking, Oct. 3.—Announcement was made that the national assembly has decided to elect President Yuan Shi Kai to a term of five years. This will be the first "constitutional" election in the Chinese republic and probably will take place Oct. 10, unless frustrated by the imperialists, who are plotting to restore the empire.

WIFE SUICIDE, MAN SHOOTS HIMSELF

Policeman Tries to Die on Eve of Woman's Funeral.

Seranton, Pa., Oct. 3.—As his wife's body was about to be taken from the house for burial, following her sensational suicide by shooting, Patrolman Charles Lamb, of Dunmore, went to a room on the second floor of his home and fired three shots into his own head, and to the surprise of physicians he is said to have a chance of recovery.

Lamb's wife committed suicide on Tuesday, following a quarrel in which she is said to have fired one shot at him. Since her death Lamb has been morose, and when his sister-in-law asked him to go upstairs on an errand just previous to the hour set for his wife's funeral, he took the same revolver and fired three times.

One bullet just grazed the scalp. The second entered about a half inch and the third flattened against the bone. The bullets were extracted.

MARIE LLOYD BARRED

Actress and Companion Ordered Back to England as "Undesirables."

New York, Oct. 3.—Marie Lloyd, an English vaudeville actress, who arrived here on the White Star liner Olympic from Southampton, was detained by the immigration authorities on the charge that, as his wife, she was accompanying a man who was not her lawful husband.

Both were ordered deported as undesirables. On the passenger list the man and woman were described as Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Dillon. They occupied a cabin on the promenade deck, one of the best in the ship.

Marie Lloyd was met at the pier by her sister Alice, who arrived in New York on Friday last on the Mauretania to fill an engagement to visit the western states and Australia.

The baggage had been passed by the customs officers, and Marie Lloyd was ready to leave, when an immigration inspector told her that information had been received that she was not married to Bernard Dillon, with whom she was traveling.

"Is this man," said the inspector, indicating Dillon with his finger, "your lawful husband?"

After some hesitation Marie Lloyd replied: "No; he is not my legal husband."

"Then," said the inspector, "I must request you both to go back on board the Olympic and remain there until tomorrow morning, when you will go with the immigrants to Ellis Island and appear before the special board of inquiry."

When the actress heard that she would not be permitted to go ashore she began to weep and became hysterical.

Tobacco Crop Cut In Half.

Lancaster, Pa., Oct. 3.—Reports from the various tobacco growing sections of the county show that this year's crop will be only half of normal. Usually the crop is valued at $4,000,000, but this year the farmers will be lucky if they receive half that sum. In many places tobacco will not be cut, as it is far from maturity, while hundreds of growers have harvested leaf that was not ripe. No tobacco has yet been bought.

A Boomerang

By ANDREW C. EWING

"It's all up with me, Sadie!"

"What in the world is the matter?"

"I'm fired."

"From your position?"

"Yes."

"What for?"

"Well, you know that when I was graduated from the electrical school I was offered a situation in the office of the Metcalf company, of which Mr. Metcalf is president and principal stockholder. I supposed the position would be permanent. It turns out that the Metcalf company had put in a bid on the erection of an electrical plant and had been awarded the contract. Mr. Metcalf wanted some one to assist in making figures on the specifications and hired me for that purpose. The formula being now completed, he has no further use for me."

"How dishonorable in him not to have told you in the beginning that you were simply employed for the job."

"If he had I would have declined his offer, for I had a permanent one offered me at a lower salary. I've been working nights for six months besides my day work and have a whole closet full of estimates figured out that I wouldn't do over again for a thousand dollars. I received only $200 for the whole period of my service. I'm sorry, Sadie, that we can't fix the date we expected to fix for our wedding. I shall have to hunt for another place, and when I get one I can't tell whether I shall be treated in the same shabby fashion."

"Well, Bob, I expect you'll find the world full of disappointments."

"Yes, and when I get knocked down I propose to get up and push on."

"Good! If you feel that way you're sure to win in the end."

But Bob found getting another place difficult. Engineers were being graduated every June, and those just entering the field were ready to work cheap. Besides, dull times came on, and it was difficult for those having positions to hold them. His fiancée was always hopeful and cheered him so far as she could.

One day the young engineer was called up on a telephone. On answering the call he learned that the person on the other end of the wire was the president of the Metcalf company.

"Would it be possible," he asked, "for you to recall from memory the formula you made for the electrical plant we bid on while you were with us?"

"No, sir."

There was no further word for a moment, but Bob knew that the receiver had not been hung up.

"Why do you ask? Has anything happened to the formula I made for you?"

"Yes. Last night our safe was broken into, and it was taken with other moneys and securities, and there is no certainty of our ever recovering it. We must begin work immediately in order to get the job finished according to contract."

Bob opened his eyes, but not his mouth. He knew that the company would forfeit $100,000 if the work was not finished on time. Indeed, it could not begin without making a new formula. At length he said:

"I could help you out, Mr. Metcalf, but I don't think you treated me right in not telling me when you employed me that it was for this job only. I did a great deal of work home at nights and simply took results to the office. All that home work I have and could easily reconstruct the formula from it."

Bob could hear a suppressed exclamation of joy.

"You can come back to work if you like," said the president, "and I'll raise your salary."

"Thank you. I don't care to enter your employ again."

"I'll make it permanent."

"That doesn't tempt me either."

"What do you ask for the figures you have?"

"They are not for sale. Had I been retained permanently in your employ I would give them to you, or if I had been told that I was hired simply for the job I would do the same. As it is I am under no obligations to you."

There was silence for a few moments when the question came, "Will you be at home this evening?" to which Bob replied that he would.

When Mr. Metcalf called in the evening he looked very much broken. He offered Bob $10,000 if he would reconstruct the formula. Bob declined the offer, but made a counter proposition. He proposed that they should submit the case to the heads of other concerns to decide between them what the cost should be, both to be bound by their decision. The offer was accepted, and an average amount of what the arbitrators figured as a proper payment was $12,500.

But a different arrangement was made. Mr. Metcalf sold a controlling interest in the company to the vice president and resigned the presidency. Bob was given a position at $3,000 a year for five years and restored the formula as an employee without charge. His ability to do so saved the company from ruin.

Bob never said a word to his fiancée about the loss of the formula till the matter was settled between him and the Metcalf company. When he did so he held her in a bear hug.

Bob and Sadie were married long ago, and Bob is now one of the principal managers of the Metcalf company.

Billy Sullivan, the former White Sox catcher, considers John Henry of Washington, the best catcher in the American league.

IS A THING OF THE PAST

Curios of the Post Office Department
Are Transferred to the National Museum.

The Postal museum, which formerly attracted thousands of sightseers to the postoffice department, is a thing of the past. Some time ago the dead letters, curbs and other postal relics representing the accumulation of a century, together with a comprehensive exhibit of mail equipment and transportation facilities, were assembled and catalogued at the direction of the postmaster general and transferred to the New National museum. The postage stamp collection of the United States government, which formerly occupied the third floor corridor of the postoffice building, has been removed to the Smithsonian Institute.

The American stamp collection is more complete than any owned by other governments, and its value is conservatively estimated at half a million dollars. Practically every issue of postage by the nations included in the international postal union is represented by all or nearly all denominations, as there is an arrangement between the postal administrations of those countries for the exchange of specimens of all new issues of stamps.

The issues of nations not adhering to the international postal union are naturally incomplete, but a large number of stamps illustrating parts of those issues are included in Uncle Sam's collection. Every issue of the United States government since 1847, the year the first American stamp appeared, is complete with the exception in all of about ten specimens. This is probably the most complete set in existence, and many entire issues are in duplicate.

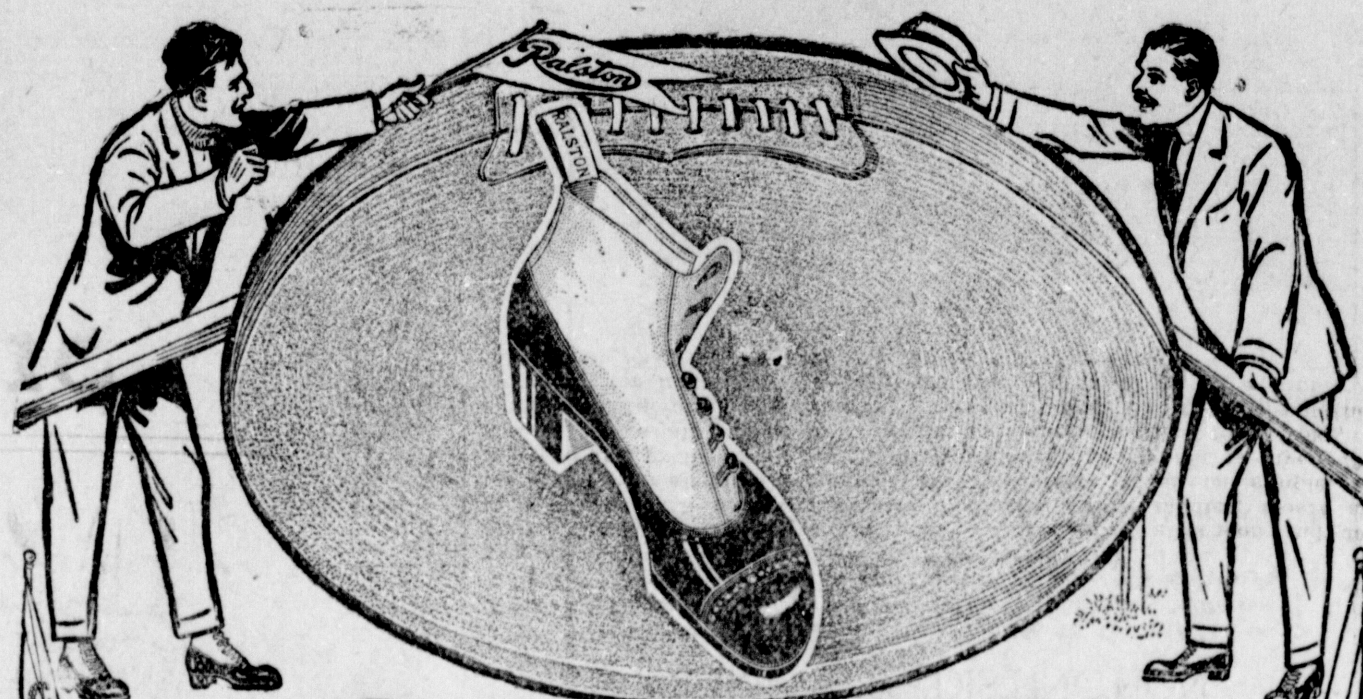

Two private collections of stamps exceed the American government collection in size and value. The first is owned by a French nobleman, and the second belongs to a resident of Chicago.

Demands of Vaudeville.

"Vaudeville," says E. A. Woolf in the Dramatic Mirror, "now demands that the material in a playlet must be weighed with an idea; it must be free from horseplay; it must be developed in consistent character drawing; it must be along new lines; and, above all, it must be clean." Mr. Woolf writes thus encouragingly with the authority of one whose name last season "appeared upon more theatrical programs than that of any other author in the United States," according to the editor of the Mirror.

Kuppenheimer and Alco System Clothes

Young men are harder to please in clothes than older men; they want something more in clothes than fit, and good quality; more even, than style; they want a certain indefinable grace and smartness in their clothes; they can't describe it, but they know when they get it. That's one reason so many young men insist on having our clothes. It is because we know young men's desires and provide for them, that we emphasize our suits at $25; we want to see you get what's best for you, $10, $12, $15 and others at $18 and $20 and up to $30, all good. Find our mark in them. Hart, Schaffner & Marx.

"The Home of Fine Clothes"

A SIMPLE MATTER OF SHIRTING IMPARTS DISTINCTION

Indoor frocks of dark silk are effectively brightened by touches of vivid color on girdle and tunic. The yoke too, often suggests an attractive way to bring a becoming shade toward the face. These dark silks are being used for street wear also at the moment, almost to the exclusion of the tailored suits. 7940 would make up well in charmuse, one of the new shades, tete de negre, for instance, with the yoke in a softly shaded matelasse. A narrow strip of the colored material would be smart edging the tunic. On a simple street dress of Worth's a narrow crocheted belt of vari-colored wool was a most distinctive detail. This hint should offer unlimited possibilities to the girl or woman looking for something "different." To copy 7940 in size 36 requires 4 1/2 yards of 36 inch material. Young girls' afternoon and dancing dresses to be modish, smart and in good taste must be simple. Quite sufficient adornment is given 7926 by the shirtings that form yoke, girdle and flounce. White tulle, not the perishable quality we know, but a material that resembles a very fine Brussels net, used in many of the little French designs of this sort, would be admirably suited to this model, with ribbons and rosettes of white or a becoming tint. This design in size 18 requires 6 1/2 yards of 36 inch material.
